REMEMBER THERE IS AN ELECTION ON NOVEMBER 4TH. 1919

Do you know that an election will be held Tuesday, November 4th, 1919? Do you know what the election is for? Very few voters throughout the country fully realize the great importance of the coming election for the reason that very little missionary work has been done to acquaint the voters with the true facts. At the coming election two delegates will be elected to the Constitutional convention, which is to assemble in Springfield next January at which time a new constitution for the state will be written. Therefore it is of vital importance that the proper candidates are elected for the office of delegate, for there will be all kinds of lobbyists at this convention, many of whom will be in favor of certain classes and "isms" and probably some radical bolshevik ideas. Therefore it behooves the voters to see that men are sent to this convention who favor no class in particular, but are broad minded enough and have the proper vision to see that the people as a mass are given a square and just deal. This election is even more important than a presidential election, for a president's tenure of office is only for four years, whereas a state constitution endures for 25, and perhaps 50 years if not more.

One very important phase that will be drafted into the new Constitutional amendment will be on taxation which will effect every citizen of the state of Illinois. When the present constitution was drafted in 1870, no provision was made for taxing intangible properties, such as stocks and bonds and trust deeds, for the reason that these securities were not much in vogue at that time. The heaviest burden of taxation has therefore fallen on realty. By drafting a new clause in the Constitutional amendment providing for a just amount of taxation on these securities, it will mean less taxation on realty. This alone means a great deal to every property owner in the state. This is only one of the many new and important phases which will enter in the drafting of a new amendment. It is necessary, therefore, that the man who can best serve is the man who can go to the convention unhampered by prejudices or narrow views, but who can give a just and equitable consideration to all the questions arising on the convention floor, and who, than, can draft into the new constitution those provisions which will make Illinois a bigger and better state in which to live.

If men of the opposite type are elected, it will be the fault of the voter who is indifferent to the issues at stake, and who lets the other fellow do it. Get every voter out on election day and vote for men who you know will do the square thing. A Republican central committee headquarters has been opened in room 700 Woodruff building, Joliet, and plans are being made to hold public rallies in Mokena and Frankfort in the near future, at which good speakers will outline the issues at stake.

Attorney George A. Bart and Attorney Edward Corlett, both of Joliet, received a good support at the primary election here, and there is no reason why they should not be given a heavy vote at the election of November 4th. Let every voter consider it his duty to be on hand Tuesday, November 4th, and vote.

Lambrecht of the St. Peter's German Evangelical church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Stephen, the groom by Albert Hinde. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. The bridal couple received many pretty and useful gifts. SELL WOOD.

Fourteen piles of wood were sold at auction, at the Pleasant Hill cemetery, Saturday afternoon. The lowest bid per single pile was $1.60, the highest, $4.20. Bidding was quite spirited.

EGGS MUST BE FRESH.

The Frankfort merchants wish to advise their patrons that no eggs which have been stored or packed away during the summer and fall with the expectation that they can be sold for fresh eggs in winter, will be accepted as fresh eggs, for when such eggs are candled they will show a cloudy substance, whereas all fresh eggs show clear. Such eggs can only be bought from the producer as storage eggs, and only storage egg prices will be realized. All eggs must be strictly fresh in order to receive the fresh-egg prices. The Frankfort merchants have taken out their egg licenses which become effective November 1. The new law covers the state of Illinois and is under the direction of the Division of Foods and Dairies of the State Board of Agriculture.

TINLEY PARK IS COLLECTING FOR POLAND'S POOR

Clothing being gathered for relief of Lutherans in Poland.

OTHER LOCAL ACTIVITIES

Tinley Park, Oct. 23.-The Zion Lutheran church, under the direction of the Rev. A. Buddenhagen, is gathering up old clothing for the benefit of the Lutheran sufferers in Poland. During the war the Russian hordes deported 100,000 Lutheran men from Poland. Later they deported the wives and children to Siberia. They destroyed the houses. They desecrated the churches. Today these refugees are returning to desolation and want that beggars description.

The National Lutheran Council has organized a European Relief Organization to appeal to the Lutherans of America for immediate and generous help. This committee consists of Dr. Lauritz Larsen, Dr. F. H. Knobel, Mr. E. F. Ebert, Rev. O. H. Pannkoke and Rev. G. L. Kleffer. Mr. H. H. Cording is taking care of the shipping and the distribution. The National Lutheran Church Council wants to see a European Relief Organization in every Lutheran congregation.

Two thousand tons of clothing must be shipped abroad before winter. This means about three million pieces. To be mentioned are: Men's and women's underwear, men's suits and overcoats, women's skirts, waists and coats, stockings, shoes, sweaters, mufflers, blankets, caps, etc. It means an average of 400 pounds per congregation. No baby clothes are wanted as all the babies have been killed off.

The National Lutheran Council wants to see 25 cents per pound contributed for every pound of clothing sent it. It costs money today to ship to Europe, much money. Besides, many things must be bought that cannot be obtained second handed. Posters have been issued and posted in Tinley Park soliciting donations.

HOG CHOLERA ON.

The dreaded hog cholera is on now and is sweeping this community. A number of farmers have been very heavy losers. A large number of hogs have been burned and others buried with a dose of quick lime. The loss is running into many hundreds of dollars. The scourge has been on for a few weeks now. Chickens have been dying of the disease also. Various remedies are being tried to effect a cure or to stem the tide of fatalities among the porkers and chickens. Various causes are assigned for the epidemic.

Eggs are again soaring upward. The price reached 64 cents per dozen. Nowadays a dollar will not even buy a pound of butter and a dozen eggs as the two commodities total $1.38.

HALLOWEEN DANCE SCHEDULED.
George Lorenz will direct a Halloween dance at the Saenger Hall Saturday night, Nov. 1st. Music will be furnished by Matties Jazz Orchestra. IN THE CHURCHES.

On October 26th the clock will be set back an hour again and the hours of services at the Zion Lutheran church will be changed as follows: Preaching services at 10 a. m., Sunday school at 2 p. m.

The annual Reformation services will be held the same day with special services in the morning in charge of the Rev. A. Buddenhagen.

EXTREME CARE IS MOST ESSENTIAL FOR PRESERVATION OF POULTRY IN TRANSIT

Be Sure to Use Only Suitably Equipped Cars for Shipping Dressed Poultry. (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Scrupulous care in pre-cooling a refrigerator car for shipping dressed poultry, always a matter of importance, is doubly so now, in the opinion of food-research experts. The greater necessity for care comes, in the first place, of the fact that there is a nationwide ice shortage. The second important element is that, following the stress of war-time transportation, the refrigerator equipment of the country is in a run-down condition. The car should be carefully examined, the experts say, to see that it admits not even a pin point of light. Then it should be tested and, if it fall short of standard, there should be no hesitation about rejecting it and calling on the railroad agent for a car that will meet the requirements. Extreme care, the experts believe, is essential just now for the preservation of poultry in transit, and the chief of the department's food research laboratory has just issued the following definite information as to how satisfactory results are to be attained:

Select Car Day Before Loading.

"When the refrigerator car is set for icing, enter it and with doors and hatches tightly closed look carefully for any crack or point of daylight. The car should be absolutely black with not a pin point of light anywhere. If there are distinct cracks around the doors or hatches, the car will not maintain sufficiently low temperature and should not be used for the hauling of dressed poultry or any other commodity requiring ice and salt refrigeration. Be sure also that the drain pipes are open and in good working order.

"The selected car should be set for icing at least 24 hours before it is to be loaded. Its bunkers should then be filled three-quarters full with finely broken ice; that is, no piece should be larger than a man's fist. When the bunkers are three-quarters full, tamp the ice down well so that all cracks and crannies are filled. Then add one-quarter of the calculated amount of salt on the 12 per cent basis. For instance, if the bunker holds 5,000 pounds of ice, when three-quarters full it will contain 3,750 pounds. On top of this amount of ice scatter 150 pounds of coarse gray rock salt. Mix this salt very lightly with the top ice and directly on top of it place more crushed ice until the bunker is full. Then add the remainder of the calculated amount of salt, which, in this case, would be 450 pounds. Mix it very lightly with the fine ice so that the salt does not penetrate into the mass of ice more than 4 or 5 inches; level the surface and quickly close the hatches.

Right Temperature Is 34 Degrees.

"With both bunkers so iced and salted, the car should stand for 24 hours. Then, in order to make sure that the

KEEP VEGETABLES IN WINTER

Temperature Slightly Above Freezing Point Is Preferred for Beets, Turnips and Carrots.

(By A. F. YEAGER, North Dakota Agricultural College.)

Turnips, beets, and carrots will keep best at a temperature slightly above freezing. Cabbage will stand considerable freezing, and salsify and parsnips may be left in the soil over winter if desired. Squashes and pumpkins will keep best in a warm dry place. A warm attic where it does not freeze is good. Potatoes require a cool place not too dry. Cabbage and nearly all root crops may be stored in the ground. They must be put deep enough to be below the frost line and should be surrounded with straw to keep them from direct contact with the soil.

Get Rid of Old Canes.

Get rid of the old raspberry and blackberry canes as soon as possible after harvesting. They should be burned to destroy both insect and disease enemies.

temperature is right for loading, a man provided with a thermometer should enter as quickly as possible by opening one side of one door, which should be tightly closed immediately. The man should stand midway between the doors holding the thermometer about 4 feet from the floor until the mercury has responded to the car temperature, which ordinarily is accomplished in from three to five minutes, depending on the quality of the thermometer. The temperature of the car at this point should not be above 34 degrees F. If it is more than 38 degrees at this point, it is dangerous to load the car for a haul requiring intensive refrigeration. Unless the shipper is willing to take chances on the condition in which his load will arrive at the market, he should communicate with the railroad agent and request a car which is able to refrigerate the dressed poultry properly.

"All refrigerator cars should be provided with a floor rack 4 inches in the clear, built of lengthwise stringers made from 2 by 4 lumber and crosswise slats made from 1 by 3 lumber, with 1 1/2 inch spaces between. These crosswise slats are nailed to the lengthwise stringers. They do not interfere with trucking the load into the car. They should extend across the doorway, since it is this part of the car which is hardest to refrigerate and where air circulation is most needed. All railroad owned refrigerators are rapidly as possible are being equipped with racks which are fastened to the side walls so that they can be turned back for cleaning."

TREES GROW BEST ON SLOPES

Roughest Areas on Farm Present Most Favorable Localities for Successful Growth.

(By W. J. MORRILL, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.)

Trees, especially cone bearing trees, seem to prefer newly eroded soil. Steep slopes are exposed to comparatively rapid erosion and here trees do the best. Level ground indicates old soil, old in the sense that it was derived from rock, as a rule, longer ago than soil found on steep slopes. Old soil probably contains an excess of soluble salts, too much for best tree growth.

In the mountains one sees the steep slopes clothed with trees, while the occasional flat spot is likely to be bare of trees. The roughest areas on the farm present the most favorable localities for successful tree growing.

Popular Strawberry.

Everbearing strawberries are becoming most common as spring bearing varieties. Progressive does well on most soils and fruits until the ground freezes.

Preparing Honey for Market.

After honey is removed from the hive it should be prepared carefully for market by proper cleaning of the sections, and especially by grading and packing in strict conformity with established grading rules.

Best Place for Manure.

Manure is often placed very near to the trunks of trees. This may not hurt the trees, but it is far better to have it put where the fine roots get the benefit.

Cut Out Old Canes.

Cut out all old canes of raspberries and thin the new ones now. Thorough cultivation about the plants will reduce the insects that are apt to work on the plants.

Shipping Comb Honey.

Comb honey that is to be sent to a distant market should be shipped before cold weather, since the combs become extremely fragile when cold.

Good Late Forage.

Millet is good late-sown forage substitute.

POULTRY FACTS

PURE-BRED POULTRY IS BEST

Growers Everywhere Are Coming to Realize That There Is More Money in Standard Breeds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The story of Reuben Lowe of North Shapleigh, Me., illustrates the possible profits from poultry keeping where careful management is practiced. During 1918 this poultryman, who devotes only part of his time to chicken raising, kept 250 birds, which paid him a profit over feed cost of more than $1,000, equivalent to $4 a bird. Included in this amount are the sales of a few eggs for hatching, about 30 cockerels sold for breeding purposes at $3.50 to $5 each, as well as the market eggs, which were disposed of in large quantity. Mr. Lowe keeps Maine Poultryman Realizes $4 a Bird From His White Wyandottes.

White Wyandottes of a strain that wins in the show ring when judged according to either the standard of perfection or a utility standard.

One pen of 20 pullets owned by this Maine poultry raiser produced eggs as follows: November, 1918, 413; December, 1918, 418; January, 1919, 380; February, 1919, 326; March, 1919, 456; a total of 1,993 eggs, averaging 99.65 eggs per bird in five months.

It pays to keep poultry of this kind, and growers everywhere are coming to realize that there is more money in keeping better fowl and feeding them properly balanced rations than in wasting time with inferior birds.

OHIO LICE POWDER FORMULA

Mixture of Gasoline, Carbolic Acid and Plaster of Paris Is Inexpensive and Efficient.

One of the cheapest home-made lice powders for poultry is made by mixing three parts of gasoline and one part of crude carbolic acid with as much plaster of paris as the liquid will moisten, as determined by the Ohio experiment station. The powder is allowed to dry before using; it may be kept in an air-tight container where it retains its strength for a long period. The powder is inflammable and must be kept away from fire.

Infested fowls when thoroughly dusted are soon relieved from the attacks of lice; about 125 birds may be dusted in one hour, one pound of the mixture being needed to dust ten mature fowls.

For head lice on chickens the use of blue ointment or mercurial ointment has been found effective. One part of the ointment is mixed with two parts of vaseline and a lump of the mixture about the size of a pea is rubbed thoroughly at the base of the feathers about the head.

MARK ALL PULLETS AND HENS

Easiest Way Is to Punch Hole in Web Between Toes When Little Chicks Are Hatched.

Where the pullets and hens are allowed to run together they should be marked, in order to tell the different ages apart. The easiest way is to punch a hole in the web between the toes when the chicks are hatched. This is easily and quickly done with a punch which may be purchased from any poultry supply house for 25 to 50 cents.

Snakes.

It is known that some species of serpents lay eggs, as farmers often plow them up, and upon opening them they find the embryo snake within the leathery covering. The eggs of the same species vary in size and shape, but are always oval. As a rule it is the constricting snake, or those which kill their prey by squeezing it, that lay eggs; such as the black snake, boa constrictor, etc.

Pay to Jap Soldiers.

In the opinion of the Jui, the pay of Japanese soldiers is too small. At present it is 1.56 yen (78 cents) a month for first and second class privates, and 1.95 (98 cents) for corporals. Even if the pay be increased 50 per cent, says the editor, it will not suffice for the needs of the soldiers. At present they have to get money from home to make up the shortage, which is not right. The total pay of the soldiers amounts to $2,150,000. If it is trebled, the government will need only $4,300,000 additional.

SEASONABLE FOODS.

Where apples are plentiful one may have a variety of dishes besides apple pies and apple sauce, good as they are. Here is one to enjoy:

Apple Souffle.—Stew good tart apples as for sauce, adding lemon peel and juice. Spread the stewed apples high around the sides and bottom of a baking dish. Make a custard, using the yolks of two eggs and a pint of milk, with a tablespoonful of cornstarch mixed with two of sugar; flavor with cinnamon. Cook the custard and let it cool, then pour it carefully into the apple-lined dish. Beat the whites of two eggs, add a tablespoonful of sugar and cover the top. Brown in the oven and serve cold.

Apple Stuffed With Nuts and Raisins.—Core half a dozen even-sized apples and remove the peeling of half of each apple. Put half a cupful of water in a saucepan; into this set the apples, the half which is unpeeled down, as this keeps them from losing their shape while cooking. Turn and baste carefully until the apples are tender. Set them carefully into a baking pan and fill the centers with one-third of a cupful each of chopped nuts and raisins; sprinkle over them a little sugar and bake in a moderate oven until glazed. Serve with the sirup poured around them.

Baked Apple Dumplings.—Select tart apples which cook without losing their shape, though this is not necessary. Core and peel. Cook in water and sugar enough to float them until nearly done. Remove them with a skimmer and place each on a square of pastry; fill the cores with sugar and lemon juice and drop a little of thickened sirup in which they were cooked over them. Moisten the tips of the pastry and press together over the top of the apple. Bake in a hot oven until well browned. Serve with cream and sugar; dust with nutmeg.

To grow and to keep in person as attractive as possible should be not only everyone's pleasure but should be also everyone's duty.

OLD-FASHIONED DISHES DEAR TO OUR HEARTS.

How very rarely do we see the toothsome crullers, dainty, sugary, rich and crisp. The same recipe may be used for fried cakes, but the manner of cutting the cruller makes them so much more attractive. Rolled twice as thick as pastry, then cut in oblongs with three or four slits cut nearly through to the edge with a sharp knife they look like an old-fashioned barred gate before they are fried. Drop into deep hot fat and fry a golden brown; roll in powdered sugar before serving. Some cooks twist the little strips before dropping into the fat, which gives them an especially attractive appearance.

Crullers.—Take one cupful of sugar, two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of sweet milk, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful of soda, some grated nutmeg and a bit of salt. Cream the butter, add the sugar and when well mixed the yolks of the eggs well beaten, then a little of the milk with flour sifted with the dry ingredients and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Use just as little flour as possible to roll. Chill on ice before rolling and the cakes can be handled very soft.

Sour Cream Doughnuts.—Beat two eggs until light and foamy, add one and three-fourths cupfuls of sugar and continue beating until the sugar is nearly dissolved; add one and one-fourth cupfuls of sour milk, one-fourth of a cupful of thick, sour cream, a teaspoonful of soda, a half teaspoonful of salt and grated nutmeg to flavor. Add as little flour as possible to handle; set on ice an hour to harden before rolling. Fry in hot fat, using the one-minute test. (A cube of bread browned in one minute in the fat.)

Dumplings.—Delicious fluffy dumplings may be prepared as follows: Take one beaten egg, one cupful of butter milk, not too sour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt sifted in flour enough to make about a cupful and a half of drop batter. Drop from a teaspoon into a boiling hot kettle of meat with plenty of bones on which to rest the dumplings. Cook eight minutes. Do not uncover during the cooking.

The health and morals of a people depend mainly upon the food they eat and the homes they live in.—Ellen Richards.

IDEAS FOR HALLOWE'EN.

The chestnut is the nut which belongs to the time-honored holiday, and no party on that occasion is quite complete without a fire and roasted chestnuts.

Roasted chestnuts, doughnuts, apples and cider make the ideal refreshments. For a Halloween luncheon or a supper, by excluding the daylight and covering the lights with orange-colored tissue, or using candles with orange shades, the table will be most attractive. For the centerpiece, a large pumpkin may be cut in the form of a basket and used as the fruit holder for grapes and apples. Small gourds or tiny pumpkins may be decorated with a face and lighted with a candle inside; these may be favors for each plate, and around the pumpkin grape or autumn-tinted leaves may be placed. Small squashes may be used as candlesticks, or brass candlesticks are always appropriate.

Another pretty device for a candle-light supper: Fill a large punch bowl with water, place tiny paper boats fitted with tiny candles to float on the water.

Chestnut Croquettes.—Mash roasted chestnuts to a smooth paste; add a tablespoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of milk, the grated peel of a lemon, one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Form into balls the size of large chestnuts, dip in egg yolk, then in crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Garnish with slices of lemon and parsley sprays.

Marrons au Juc.—These are chestnuts preserved in a lemon sirup, and may be prepared in chestnut season, keeping for years. Shell and blanch the chestnuts, after cooking them in the shell until quite tender. Prepare a lemon sirup, and turn in the chestnuts, when scalding hot, and seal airtight. These may be used as a garnish for ice creams, sherbets, puddings, or may be served as a confection, dipped in fondant or chocolate, or drained and rolled in powdered sugar.

Search as we will we will find that the inner unseen realm of thought is invariably the realm of cause and the realm of material form is the realm of effect.

EVERY-DAY LUNCHEONS.

It is in the every-day food where we need variety. Anyone may create some dainty for an occasion, but it takes real brain-work to keep going every day and avoid monotony.

Frizzled Oysters.—Put half a cupful of sweet fat into the frying pan, add three well-beaten eggs, mixed with a cupful of cracker crumbs. Add two cupfuls of oysters, with their liquor; season with salt and pepper and cook ten minutes, stirring constantly.

Cabbage Salad.—Select a small, heavy, round head of cabbage. Cut a slice off the top and scoop out the inside, leaving a thin shell. Shred the cabbage with half as much celery; mix with a highly seasoned boiled dressing; add a few nuts and fill the shell. The shell may be used to hold the frizzled oysters and the salad served on lettuce leaves.

Baked Pears.—Peel and core pears and fill the cavity with sugar, butter and a bit of grated lemon rind. Place in a baking dish, pour over water, add sugar and the juice of a lemon; bake until tender, basting often with the sirup. Boil down the sirup and pour over the fruit. Chill before serving.

Corn Flake Dainties.—Take two cupfuls of corn flakes, one cupful of coconut, one egg, well beaten; add a teaspoonful of vanilla, a speck of salt and a cupful of sugar. Mix well and drop by small teaspoonfuls on a baking sheet. Bake until a golden brown. Chopped pecans, peanuts, hickory nuts or any kind of nut may be used in place of the coconut.

Shelled pecans, browned in a bit of butter and dusted with a dash of cayenne pepper and salt, make a very dainty dish.

New Designs in One-Piece Dress

The demand for the practical and very smart one-piece dress of serge or tricolette has in no way abated, advises a leading fashion writer. Indeed the new models of this sort of frock are so charming as well as so serviceable that no wardrobe is complete without at least one. Serge seems to have had its day, at least for the early fall and spring, for at this time the newer duvetyns and tricolettes are raging up and down the land.

It is hardly possible to describe the beauty of these one-piece frocks. When one has said they are of either of the two materials mentioned and that they are of the chemise type much has been told, but to appreciate fully the beauty and charm of such a dress one must see it. The trimmed hips prevail in the smartest of the new models. In fact, every dress, of whatever nature, reveals this fashion of adorning the hips. This is done either by so arranging the draperies that they give the desired extended line or by placing fringes, plaits, braid or frills in a decidedly extended effect along the hips and down the sides.

Curious Model Finds Favor.

There is one curious model which has attained a certain following which has waist and skirt cut all in one with no break whatever at the waist line, the whole presenting a perfectly flat back and front. At the hips the skirt is extended in a wide flare, suggesting pockets which stand well away from the body of the gown. Except for the line of buttons down the back or an occasional string belt this gown shows no other trimming. Obviously it is for the very slender, since the curved and more developed figures will not appear to advantage in a gown of such straight up and down effect that the skirt is little wider than the bodice.

Charming Frock of Navy Blue Lyons Velvet Faced With Red.

EVER CHARMING VELVET

Velvet is the joy of every woman's heart. It used to be that most women waited until their daughters were married or at least fifty years had been reached before they could boast of a velvet gown. In those days a black velvet gown and some "real" lace and pearls were the synonyms of much wealth, therefore it is no wonder that all women longed for a velvet gown. Of course, velvet was frightfully expensive in those long ago times, but nowadays with duvetyn at $20 the yard, and peach bloom and tricolette close followers in this price, velvet seems almost economical. It is much used for the one-piece afternoon frock.

Not so much trimming is used on the velvet dresses. One excellent example is of black chiffon velvet with the draped hips so prevalent. The only trimming used is introduced at the neck in a half collar and on the sleeves in half cuffs of silver cloth embroidered in a beautiful shade of myrtle red. This fashion of making very small collars and cuffs is a lovely fact that the skirt is little wider than the bodice.

Doubtless we shall grow a little tired of the emphasized trimming on the hips, but at this time it is well to recognize the fact that this sort of trimming is a distinct feature in the one-piece gown.

The coat dress simulating jackets or longer coats is ideal when developed in navy blue serge or duvetyn or tricolette. The latter fabric will probably be superseded as the season advances except in those cities where the climate permits lighter weight fabrics than the woolen.

I have observed a very charming coat dress of dark blue serge with a tight, narrow underskirt of the serge, ankle length, and over which there hangs a tunic of the serge somewhat fuller than most we see. The upper part of this dress has a short Eton jacket faced down the front with scarlet broadcloth, and this is toned down with black soutache. The scarlet cloth forms a rather narrow vest and a belt extending all the way around the waist. The sleeves are long and tight, of the coat type, and button at the wrist. This is an ideal morning dress for shopping or other practical street wear. Soft fur collars of fox or lynx are worn with this kind of dress.

French Styles Modified.

The duvetyn frocks are particularly lovely this year. They do not follow closely the French abbreviated sleeves and skirts, though the general idea of the French dresses, uncorseted, loose and scant, has been followed and modified to suit the American wearer. Many of the duvetyns have elaborately embroidered motifs on the skirts. Some have aprons of cloth thickly stitched with contrasting silk in good designs which enhance the beauty of the dress. They all have for the most part the new square cut neck, not nearly so decollete as earlier models were, and the sleeves may be short or long, as preferred. If short, they reach well to the elbow and flare. The longer sleeve is of the most tailored coat type and buttons at the wrist. Some of the makers do not adopt this method of closing a sleeve.

Fringe, ruffles and ribbons are to be reckoned with this fall. As to the fringe, many of the Parisian gowns of the most elaborate materials show it used in the most lavish way. For instance, over a gown of black satin there is placed an overdress of long and very heavy black silk fringe which hangs from the neck to the hem. At the waist the fringe is held in with a string belt ending with long silken tassels. From underneath this belt the long ends of the fringe hang out, and as they flare with every movement of the wearer the effect is distinctly Hawaiian or Samoan, where short skirts of a curious straw fringe are worn.

Two of these fringed silken frocks appeared the other day and were observed by all with intense interest, though the wearers scarcely seemed conscious of the concern they created.

Fringe on Duvetyn Dresses.

The duvetyn dresses, too, are being trimmed with this long fringe, as, for example, one finds a taupe duvetyn with the bodice made entirely of an uncut silken fringe placed over the duvetyn. The long apron tunic repeats a row of the fringe along the edge. Nothing has been more interesting than the continuation of this fringed trimming. It was so exploited two seasons ago that it comes as a slight surprise that it is still famed just now and seemingly more than ever. Undoubtedly we shall see much use of ribbon.

one, as charming touches of color can be cleverly used.

The very long overblouse of velvet or plaited satin or georgette is destined to become very popular, as it is a practical mode which all may follow. The new plaid skirts of the fine Scotch wools are particularly good when topped with a tailored velvet overblouse of some harmonious color contrasting well with the mingled plaids. Everything in Paris reveals plaitings of some sort, bodices, skirts and indeed entire dresses being made of knife plaited or accordion plaited fabrics. The latter plaits are more satisfactory than the wider, as they are put in by machinery and do not come out so persistently as the others do.

Corsage Fastens Behind.

Once more fashion decrees that the corsage shall be fastened behind with a row of tiny buttons.

Raised Waistlines.

Blue serge frocks show flounced skirts and raised waistlines.

Serious Kidney Trouble Had Made Life Miserable, But Doan's Removed All the Trouble. Hasn't Suffered Since.

"I had such severe pains in my back," says Mrs. Albert Akroyd, 304 W. Indiana Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., "that they almost doubled me up. Many a day I could not do my housework and at every move it seemed as if my back would break in two. My feet and ankles swelled until I had to wear large-sized slippers and sometimes I couldn't stand up."

"I had dizzy spells and dreadful headaches and fiery flashes passed before my eyes. Had a heavy weight been resting on my head, the pain could not have been more distressing. The least noise startled me, I was so nervous. I couldn't control the kidney secretions and the pain in passage was awful."

"It began to look as though my case was beyond the reach of medicine until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box benefited me and four boxes cured all the troubles. I have had no further cause for complaint."

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Matteson

Matteson, Oct. 23.—Matteson is coming to the front as regards an awakening of the civic spirit. To begin with a community center—long needed to inject new life into the community and to give the young folks a place to go and entertain themselves—is to be started. On Monday evening a group of the progressive citizens of the village met with James P. Keir and made arrangements for beginning the work. Saturday evening, October 25, has been set for the first formal meeting of the community center activity. A very fine program has been arranged for. There will be music, both vocal and instrumental moving pictures, etc.

Permission has been received from the village fathers to use the lower rooms of the city hall on evenings after 7 p. m., and the large hall one evening each week—Saturday—when not engaged for some important gathering. It is the aim to leave the lower rooms well lighted and heated and some one in charge of the rooms at all times. A reading room is proposed for one of the features. Reference books to be consulted at the rooms as well as a circulating library of the best and latest literature obtainable will be provided according to present plans. Magazines and periodicals of all kinds will be on file for use of those visiting the rooms. The Saturday evenings will be special gatherings and every effort will be made to have them instructive and enjoyable as well.

The young men of Matteson are seriously contemplating the organization of a football team as the outgrowth of the recently organized Matteson Athletic club. Alfred Grosche, a 1919 Illinois university man, has been selected to coach the team.

Last summer considerable interest was taken in baseball, a very good team being organized and games scheduled with several other near-by towns.

The campaign committee having charge of the local drive for the Roosevelt Memorial fund was banqueted at the Matteson house Saturday night and plans formulated for the conducting of the drive. It is expected that a good sum will be realized for the fund.

At a meeting held at the village hall Friday night an editorial staff and a full set of officers were chosen to handle the Matteson Weekly Journal. In the future the proceedings of the village board, the village board of health, new ordinances, etc., will be printed in the Journal. In return the village board will permit the sponsors of the Journal to place a desk in the council room for the use of those engaged in getting out the paper and mailing out the same.

The Matteson public school directors have provided the school children with swings, bars, turnovers, etc. The material has been secured at little or no expense to the district.

The Matteson public school will hold a bazaar on Friday, October 24. Refreshments will be served and there will be good things to eat. Many things attractive and valuable as well will be for sale. The profits of the bazaar will be used for the benefit of the Matteson school library. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Touring England's Lake District

View on Derwentwater.

THE lake district of England, one of the most beautiful of regions, always has been a favorite resort of American tourists, not only because of its natural attractions, but also on account of its literary associations.

First among recorded tourists to Lakeland was Gray, the poet, author of the "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," says Country Life. He visited the Westmoreland and Cumberland lakes in 1769, the year before Wordsworth, the most outstanding among the lake school of poets, was born. He discovered the lakes, alike in a touring and literary sense, and being essentially of the eighteenth century, he fled from them and the grandeur of their scenery in dismay. For not then had the picturesque been invented. The beauties of wild nature were not appreciated, and had they been the roads of that age and the lack of proper accommodation were powerful deterrents.

But for close upon a century Lakeland has been a greatly appreciated touring ground. Scenery and the literary associations with Wordsworth, Southey, Coleridge, De Quincey and their circle, have attracted every type of holiday maker. First came the vacation reading parties of university students, then the honeymoon couples, to whom the Low Wood hotel, Ambleside, was once, in a sense, sacred; and then the railways brought tourists from far and near. But not until the automobile came upon the roads was Lakeland comfortably or thoroughly to be explored.

The tourist by motor car here has choice of every kind of road, or no road and may, if he will, take his sport in pass-storming with the most adventurous, or take his sight-seeing along roads as good as any in this country. It is all a matter of taste and inclination. The ideal way of seeing Lakeland is undoubtedly that of selecting some central spot at which to stay and taking from it daily, out and home, excursions. This is so for several reasons; chief among them that of the somewhat limited area of the lake district, which may be stated at about thirty miles square. The lakes figure so largely in popular imagination that this will seem scarcely credible; yet any reference to maps will prove the truth of it. But it does not follow from this sheer matter-of-fact measurement that this region is easily seen or soon exhausted.

Grasmere in the Center.

Exactly in the center of the lake district is Grasmere, central geographically, and in its interest, for it was Wordsworth's home, and in its churchyard he lies.

There are five recognized centers for tourists in these regions: Windermere, Ambleside and Grasmere, about equidistant, some four miles from one another; Keswick, thirteen miles further north, and Coniston, somewhat isolated, seven miles southwest of Ambleside. It would be a thankless task to declare any preference among these, but we will take Grasmere as the very focus of the lakes.

Grasmere village is a sweet and gracious place. Here Wordsworth resided for more than fifty years. His later homes here are not accessible, but Dove Cottage, where he wrote his earliest and best, has been preserved as it was in his day, and is the resort of literary pilgrims, while the unpretending church beside the River Rotha is much the same as he knew it. That is an interesting day trip, along excellent roads, which takes us north to Cockermouth, the old market town at the extreme northerly edge of Lakeland, where his birthplace, in Main street, is still shown.

The way runs by Dunmail Raise to Wythburn, whose little church, one of the smallest in England, is neighbored by the Nag's Head Inn, where the old horsesmen and their wives put up their horses while attending service in olden times. The road then runs alongside Thirlmere, with the imposing mountain, Helvellyn, 3,118 feet, on right. Keswick town comes next; a considerable place for this part of the country, and with an oddly foreign appearance, caused chiefly by the church-like building (really the town hall) in the middle of the street. The chief industry is the making of lead pencils.

Derwentwater Loveliest Lake.

But Derwentwater itself is the real reward of the journey. It is generally considered the loveliest of all the lakes, and it is also the most accessible, a good road encircling it. Beyond Keswick we pass Greta Hall, once the home of Southey, and come to Bassenthwaite Water. Preferably taking the left-hand road, Skiddaw, 3,054 feet, is seen across the water. Cockermouth is some six miles further.

Returning from that town, the other side of Bassenthwaite Water may be taken, and the rest of the way back to Grasmere is identical with the outward run. The distance, including the circuit of Derwentwater, is about seventy-six miles.

But Derwentwater is worth a more leisurely trip, for its own sake. The trip from Grasmere to Keswick and the circuit of Derwentwater and back is thirty-five miles. The advantages are with the tourist proceeding to Keswick and there turning left and past the church, following the eastern side of the lake to Lodore, where the "Falls of Lodore," sung by Southey, will be found. Beyond we come to Shepherd's Crag, overhanging the road, and past the Borrowdale hotel and the narrow pass called the "Jaws of Borrowdale," whose rocks so greatly alarmed Gray 150 years ago. At Grange where the River Derwent flows out of Derwentwater, the road abruptly turns, to follow the western lakeside. In the pleasant vale at Grange is that giant rock, the "Bowder Stone."

The peculiar advantages of staying at Grasmere are many. Not least among them is that within five miles you have not only Grasmere itself, rivaling Derwentwater for loveliness, but Rydal Water, and the town of Ambleside, with Windermere, the largest and most popular of the lakes beyond. All are within an easy walk for the tourist staying at Grasmere, who will scarce take out his car when he can indulge in pleasant footpath rambles for a change.

The car is for farther afield. For example, the run to Penrith, along Ullswater. The out and home run is fifty-six miles. The best way from Grasmere is to take the Windermere road, as far as Waterhead; thence turning to the left and up to Troutbeck. The nearer route, up from Ambleside to Kirkstone Pass, is an exceedingly steep climb, but it can be taken on the return.

On the way to Ullswater the gloomy little mountain town of Brothers Water is passed, and then comes the descent to pleasant, sunny Patterdale. Here the seven miles long lake of Ullswater, the second longest of the lakes, begins, skirted all the way by a delightful road, with the waterfall of Aira Force midway, spouting from its woody glen. Ullswater ends at Pooley Bridge, whence it is seven and a half miles into the quaint old market town of Penrith, passing Yanwath Hall, now a farm house, but a good surviving specimen of the fifteenth century fortified border residence; and thence over the ancient Eamont Bridge, built in 1425.

Children's Spending Money.

The practice of doling out money to the children by dribbles, when they tease for it, and without holding them to any responsibility in the matter of spending it, is undoubtedly responsible for most of the prevalent unthrift among our young people. It is quite natural that this childish attitude toward money should continue even into the period when the young person becomes a money-earner on his own account, and oftentimes, into his adult life as well.—Thrift Magazine.

Love Is Everything.

Be sure of it. Be sure that to have found the key to one heart is to have found the key to all; that truly to love is truly to know; and truly to love one is the first step towards truly loving all who bear the same flesh and blood with the beloved. . . . All knowledge is love, and all love knowledge; even with the meanest, we cannot gain a glimpse into their inward trials and struggles without an increase of sympathy and affection.—Exchange.

FOR SUCCESS IN WINTERING BEES

Some of Best Apiarists Place Honey Gatherers in Cellars or Special Repositories.

ALL HIVES ARE PROTECTED

Provide Abundance of Stores of Good Quality and Shelter From Wind and Cold—Of Great Importance to Have Good Queen.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Bees in the more northern parts of the United States for many years have been placed by some of the best beekeepers in cellars or special repositories during the coldest parts of the winter. There has been a growing feeling, however, that if outdoor wintering is practicable, in most cases it gives better results, and there has been a decided change from cellar wintering to outdoor wintering within the past decade. The difficulty seems to be that the methods of cellar wintering practiced have not been satisfactory and it seems probable that if as much attention had been given to the perfection of the methods of cellar wintering as has been given to an improvement of the methods of outdoor wintering, there would not have been as great a change to the outdoor methods as has taken place.

The placing of bees in a cellar is only another way of putting insulation about the hives, the only difference being that in the cellar all of the hives are protected alike and the protection is placed about the apiary instead of around hives in groups or singly. It follows that the principles which apply to successful outdoor wintering apply equally to the protection of the bees in the cellar.

Essentials to Success.

As in the case of outdoor wintering, the essentials to success in caring for a normal colony of bees from the end of one season's honey flow to the beginning of the next lie in providing three things in abundance: (1) Stores of good quality, (2) protection from wind and cold, and (3) room for the rearing of brood at appropriate times. These factors must not be lacking at the right times, and if any one is omitted it may prevent the bees from gathering the crop of the following season. These three factors do not apply equally throughout the period of relative inactivity, but as certainly as anyone of them is decreased, just so certainly will next year's crop be reduced.

In practicing cellar wintering it is unnecessary to leave so much honey with the bees during the time that they are in the cellar, and it is not necessary during that period to leave room for the rearing of brood. During the coldest part of the winter the bees need especially protection from cold and wind, although enough good stores must be in the hive to keep them through that period in good condition. Probably a large part of the failure of beekeepers in practicing cellar wintering comes from the fact that before and after the bees are in the cellar the important factors of stores and breeding room have not been adequately supplied. Before the bees are put into the cellar they must have room for breeding and stores in abundance, and after they are taken out these two factors must be present in greatly increased abundance.

Necessity of Strong Colonies.

As in the case of wintering outdoors, it is wasteful to attempt to winter weak colonies. It is difficult to set standards of colony strength at this season, but it is unwise to attempt to winter colonies that are not strong enough to have brood sufficient to fill three or four Langstroth frames two months before the first killing frost. If the colonies in the apiary are not of the proper strength, it is wise to unite until the proper strength is reached.

It is of the greatest importance that every colony have a good queen in order that brood rearing may continue in the fall and may then again proceed rapidly in the spring. Usually it is best to requeen at least every two years, but if good wintering is practiced the colonies will come out of winter quarters so strong and will build up so rapidly in the spring that the queens will soon wear out, making it safer to requeen every year. To get the best results from requeening, all young queens should be introduced so that they begin to lay about two months before the first killing frost.

POSSIBLE TO DOUBLE PRODUCTION OF COWS

Success of Dairymen Due Greatly to Quality of Animals.

Farmer Should Eliminate Low Producers From Herd and Feed Remainder According to Production—Adds to Profits.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Dairymen in the United States are divided into three classes—those who ultimately fail and abandon the business; those who eke out a limited existence, and those who succeed. Invariably, the success of the progressive dairyman is principally due to the quality of his cows. He climbs to freedom from financial worry on the backs of big producers.

It is impossible for the average dairy cow of the United States even to approach the remarkable production record of Duchess Skylark Ormsby, who produced in a year 1,205.09 pounds of butterfat, equivalent to three-fourths of a ton of butter. But it is possible for dairymen, the country over, to double the present production of their herds. To increase the production of the average dairy cow from 160 to 320 pounds of butterfat a year would not be difficult, according to dairy experts, and would increase net profits out of proportion to production costs.

This should be the aim of every progressive dairy farmer. He should eliminate the low producers from his herd and feed the remainder according to known production. He should improve the foundation stock with the idea of making the daughters yield as much more milk than their dams as possible. This practice in a few generations would greatly increase production, decrease the cost of feed and add much to the profit and pleasures of dairy farming.

BOYS BOOST PUREBRED PIGS

Increase in Number of Breeders in Indiana County Credited Largely to Club Influence.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The increase in the number of breeders of purebred animals in Clay county, Ind., is largely credited to the influence of the local pig club. Two years ago there were less than ten breeders of purebred hogs in the county, but at present registered hogs can be found on more than 100 farms. The boy and girl members of the club are the pioneers in the keeping of purebred hogs. Recently ten big-type Poland China gilts, of excellent quality and valued at $50 each, were issued to the members of the club by the local county agent.

Not Had Fair Chance.

The dewberry has not had a fair chance on many farms. It has been considered only as a wild plant with little thought as to what it would do under cultivation.

DOESN'T STIMULATE GROWTH

Admonition Frequently Heard From Authorities Is Not to Feed Pigs Too Much Corn.

Do not feed pigs too much corn while they are young. This is an admonition we frequently hear from authorities on pig raising. Here is the reason why: Corn is a fat-producing feed and does not stimulate growth. What is needed is a protein feed; that is, one which ranks high in protein. Protein makes muscle and stimulates growth. Tankage will do very well, but often it is impossible to secure it.

Moss in Pastures.

Pastures that have moss in them do but little good; sometimes the hogs do them a lasting good by rooting them up; the cultivation and aeration stimulates them.

Select Seed Corn.

It is urged on farmers not only to select seed corn early and to take the best care of it, but to put away enough for two years' planting.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE
by MARY GRAHAM BONNERTHE OPERA GLASSES.

"Hello, other end," said one end of the opera glasses.

"Hello, other end," answered the end that had been spoken to.

"I can make things look so far, far away," said the end which had spoken first, which we will call Tiny View.

"I can make things look so very near," said the other end, which we will call Big View.

"I like my part better," said Tiny View. "It is more interesting not to be able to see things so near. They look more mysterious at a distance."

"I don't know that I agree with you," said Big View.

"You wouldn't want to be in my place, would you?" asked Big View.

"Oh, no, certainly not," said Tiny View.

"Well, there you have it."

"Have what?" asked Tiny View.

"You like your way because it is your way and because you are used to it," said Big View, "and I like my way because I am used to it. That's the way we are."

"I see," said Tiny View.

"What fun I do have at the theater or at the opera," said Big View.

"I have a good time, too," said Tiny View, "for children like to look through me and they like to say, 'Oh, how funny the stage looks, and the people look so small, and everything looks so far, far away.' It gives them a quite different idea of the stage and the people acting."

"Of course it does," said Big View. "Well, I like the work I have to do. I like to make things seem near at hand, to make them stand out clear and plain."

"But when things are far away, isn't it wrong to make them look near?"

"Children Like to Look."

asked Tiny View. "Isn't that the least bit deceitful?"

"Of course not," said Big View angrily.

"Oh, I didn't mean to annoy you," said Tiny View. "I was only asking a question."

"It is no more deceitful than for you to make them see things far away."

"I suppose that is so," said Tiny View. "I hadn't thought about it that way before."

"You hadn't looked into the matter closely enough," laughed Big View.

"Well," said Tiny View, "we're each rather clever in our own way. You can make things near which aren't and I can make things look far away which aren't so far off at all."

"We're not clever," said Big View.

"Who is clever then, if we aren't?" asked Tiny View.

"The one who made us," said Big View.

"Well, the one who made us must have seen that we were going to do our work properly and were the sort of things he could employ."

"To be sure," agreed Big View. "That is what we do, and what we must always do—our work—properly."

"We do have such a good time," said Tiny View.

"That's why we should do our work well," said Big View. "We should show that we are grateful."

"We'll always be friends, won't we?" asked Tiny View.

"Of course we will," said Big View.

"I remember seeing a beautiful dance once," said Tiny View, "and all the little creatures dancing were so lovely."

"I remember that lovely dance," said Big View, "but all the creatures I saw were quite, quite large."

"Ha, ha," said Tiny View, "we were looking at it from different ends, for we are different, aren't we?"

"To be sure," said Big View, "but we're both lucky, for we're taken to theaters and operas and we see the great singers and dancers and actors and actresses and give folks great treats—so they can look at things in two most interesting ways with the aid of their own perfectly good eyes! And also by moving us to focus us just right."

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Harlem Oil Capsules, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

It is a pleasure to meet a man or woman these days who has no fault to find.

Teddy Told Him.

When Theodore Roosevelt was president a man visited him who had a request to make. In his arms he carried a bundle of letters of introduction. He stated his request and closed his argument with these words:

"Mr. President, I am sure that if you do this for me you will please the people of my state. In fact, I could have brought with me a thousand letters more asking you to do it."

"Oh, pshaw," was Roosevelt's blunt reply, "I could get a thousand people in your state to sign a petition to have you hanged."

Earth's Life Zones.

Biologists have divided the entire surface of the earth into life zones, each zone having much the same flora and fauna wherever found. The life zone in a given locality depends upon both latitude and elevation. Thus the Canadian life zone, which has everywhere plants and animals similar to those of Canada, is found in the high Rocky Mountains as far south as southern Colorado and northern New Mexico.

An Inward Bent.

Rob Wagner, the movie director, said at a Los Angeles picnic:

"Sometimes I have as many as 500 applications a day. The applicants are of all kinds—heiresses, chambermaids, handsome young ex-bartenders and so forth.

"A chambermaid applied yesterday. She was pretty, but she didn't seem to have any individuality, any temperament."

"What can you do? I asked her. 'Haven't you got some special talent or inclination—some bent, as they say?'"

"The girl blushed a little.

"Well, Mr. Wagner," she said, 'I'm a little bit knockkneed.'"

The Brainy Bee.

The following incident testifies to the remarkable sagacity and efficiency of bees. A hive was being "spied upon" by a wasp. When wasps ascertain a hive is worth attacking they often succeed in ousting the bees. Every time the wasp approached the small entrance hole a bee came out. An hour later the wasp was dead.

MOKENA

Mokena, Oct. 23.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church is making preparations for the big chicken pie and oyster supper which they will direct in the Mokena Hall Wednesday evening, October 29th. In connection with the supper there will be a parcel post sale of various articles. A good time is anticipated and a good attendance is desired.

The new residence of Erhardt Oswald, Jr., is well under way. Carpenters from Blue Island have charge of the work.

George J. Hacker has installed the scale formerly at the Kolber store in front of his feed shed on Front street. He has also moved his office from the hall proper into the east corner of the building and has made himself a snug little office.

The village board will meet in its monthly session at the village hall next Wednesday night.

Nicholas Lauffer, who underwent an operation at the Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, last week, is improving nicely.

Etiquette of Walking.

When in the street, especially in daytime, a lady is not supposed to take a gentleman's arm, unless she is infirm or elderly, though she may properly do so at night. When walking with two ladies a gentleman may walk on the outside, or the inside, or, rather, the side from which he can best guard his companion or companions from obstacles or danger. It is not good form to take a lady's arm, unless to assist her in some way.
